Office of Diversity and Multicultural Affairs presents the

14th Annual Urban Community Forum

“The Souls of Black Folk”

The Urban Community Forum theme is taken from W.E.B. DuBois's 1903 book, “The Souls of Black Folk,” in which he proclaims that “the problem of the Twentieth Century is the problem of the color-line.” As a continuing problem of the 21st century, the Urban Community Forum invites you to participate in an important dialogue on identities and constructs that continue to influence our lives in American society. Speakers, panelists and members of the community will discuss our historic journey and transitions, and how we define and redefine racial identity today and in the future.

A Special Issue of
The Journal of Traditions and Beliefs

“Since people are so intimately bound up with their religious life and outlook, their history constitutes the history of their religion. This is an area of study which calls for interdisciplinary cooperation between historians, anthropologists, and theologians.”
